Sustainability

In der zentralen georgischen Region Kartli, bekannt für ihre traditionelle Weinbau mit einer über 8.000 Jahre alten Geschichte, werden die alten wurzelechten Weinberge nach ökologischen Grundsätzen bewirtschaftet.

Tasting note

This full-bodied orange dry wine offers an intense aroma, featuring honeysuckle, pear, melon, and a hint of eucalyptus. Despite its dry nature, the wine maintains a balanced tannin structure, with nutty sensations, leaving a lasting natural aftertaste.

Vinification

Kundza, a native Georgian is a grape variety known for its nuanced flavor profile. Cultivated in the Kareli Region at 750 meters elevation. Hand-picked from vineyards with a density of 2,900 vines/ha, the grapes undergo a 7-10 day skin contact fermentation, followed by a 15-day secondary malolactic fermentation. Afterwards it matures in Qvevri for six months, undergoing a natural filtration process involving several transfers to different Qvevris for further maturation and clarification. Limited to 3,000 bottles.

Bottle format
